Hi

- * Where possible suburbs should not be split, eg Kambah.
- * where possible clearly defined landforms should be boundaries, eg green corridors, rivers, creeks, major arterial roads.
- * the shape of an electorate should not have bits sticking out or separate.

The Liberal submission has aspects contrary to at least 2 of the above aspects. The Labour and Greens submissions appear to conform to all three features.

While I agree with Ramon Bouckeart about minimizing changes, the splitting of any suburb , eg Kambah, should be corrected in this redistribution.
